DROPPED TO HIS DEATH.

A Trapeze Performer Falls From the Ceiling to the Floor.

A Terrible Scene in a Minneapolis Theater—A Dead Fall of Nearly Forty Feet—Almost Instant Death.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 18.—A thrilling accident occurred at the Ponce Opera-house last night about 9:30 o'clock, during the regular performance that has been running there the past week. The show is of the variety order, and among the actors was a trapeze performer called La Haire on the walls. His business consists of a number of perilous acts on the trapeze, among which was what is known as "ceiling walking." A number of rings are attached to the ceiling down the front part of the auditorium, and the performer, hanging by these with his feet, with his head downward, travels across the hall. La Haire had nearly finished his act last night, and was about half way across the ceiling on his perilous trip when one of the swivels by which the rings are fastened to the ceiling broke, and he shot downward like a bolt, his head striking one of the iron arms of a seat. He was picked up and carried behind the stage, when it was discovered that his skull was fractured and his neck broken. Dr. Amer was called at once, who made a hasty examination and ordered the unfortunate man to be taken to his lodgings at the Keller House. Further examination there showed that he struck on his head, just over the left eye, producing a fracture of the skull, which extended to the back of his head. His neck was also broken, but not dislocated. His injuries were such that he could not possibly recover, and nothing could possibly be done for him. The distance from the ceiling to the floor of the Opera House is nearly forty feet, and he struck the seat with such violence as to break the heavy iron arm. His body, if shot downward, was perfectly rigid, and the scene was frightful. The audience, which was not large, was paralyzed for a moment and several ladies nearly fainted, but no panic ensued. The orchestra struck up and a few moments later the performance was going on as usual. A few people left the house, but the majority remained until the show was over. Last night it was the third he has experienced during the past two years. About a year and a half ago, while performing in Indianapolis, a portion of the ceiling gave way and he fell on his head. He was unconscious for three days and did not recover for several weeks. Two months ago at St. Louis he missed his footing and fell to the floor, sustaining slight injuries only. His comrades say he has been very nervous all the week here, and to use the expression of one of them, "was leary of the business" all the time. Before going on last night he spoke to one of the company, remarking, "If I get through tonight all right I will be glad if it, but I feel that something is going to happen."

THE MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, March 17.—GRAIN.—Wheat—There were some good milling orders to buy, but sellers were not much inclined with freedom, which would justify stronger views. Longberry which was offered yesterday at $1 12 and recorded a hard red. Choice longberry would bring $1 12, but the right kind is scarce and not offered freely. Not much hard red was offered and little No. 2 red, the quotable range, sellers' view being represented at $1 06 1/2. Corn—The market showed a practical change, being steady on graded lots. No. 3 mixed being held at 52 1/2 c. and No. 2 mixed at 53 1/2 c. Bar corn sold at 47 1/2 c. according to sample. There was a good demand for white, and that kind was firm at 54 1/2 c. for regular. No. 2 mixed had plenty of buyers at 50 1/2 c. and was held at 51 c. Flour—The market was fairly steady, regular family flour selling being largely confined to a range of $4 70 to $4 80. Some lots were offered lower and favorite brands sold on their merits. Quotations as follows: Winter patent, $5 00 to $5 25; fancy, $5 25 to $5 50; family, $4 50 to $4 75; extra, $4 75 to $5 00; spring patent, $5 00 to $5 25; bakers', $4 50 to $4 75. Rye flour strong at $3 50 to $3 75. Buckwheat flour selling at $5 25 to $5 50 per barrel. PRODUCE.—Market dull and rates unchanged. Selling at $1 50 to $1 60 per bushel from store. Turnip—Dull at $1 50 to $1 75 per bushel for prime to choice from store. Rutabagas dull at $1 50 per bushel. Greens—There was an over supply of kale, which sold at buyers' rates; choice fresh kale and spinach would command $1 50 per bushel. Sweet Potatoes—Market easy and slow. Prime to choice Eastern yellow selling at $1 50 to $1 75 per bushel, and Southern at $1 50 to $1 75. Jerseys $1 75 to $1 85 per bushel. Potatoes—Demand fair and market steady. Loose track lots quotable at 20 1/2 c. for prime to choice Early Rose, the outside rate for choice New York lots, and 40 c. for Burbanks. Quotations from store, $1 50 to $1 75 per bushel for prime to choice Early Rose, and $1 50 to $1 75 for Burbanks. Butter—There was a good consumptive trade during the week for fancy stocks, and prime goods were taken to an increased extent, but everything else was dull and plentiful. We quote fresh bright creamery at 50 1/2 c. and prime stock sold at 47 1/2 c. None strictly fancy dairy sold at 50 1/2 c. and choice stock at 25 1/2 c. Prime goods quoted at 18 1/2 c. medium at 12 1/2 c. and common at 7 1/2 c. Cheese—There is a good demand and the market is firm. Prime to choice Ohio quoted at 12 1/2 c.
